AFFAIRS IN BROOKLYN.

ATTACKING A PRIEST WITH A KNIFE. A SUPPOSED MADMAN LEAPS ON A CLERGYMAN

IN A CEMETERY. samuel Weidners, of Graham-ave., near Johnson-st. was arraigned in the Gates Avenue Police Court yestermorning on the charge of assault in the third dec, preferred by the Rev. Bernard F. Kurtz, pastor of Roman Catholic Church of the Fourteen Martyrs, Central ave. and Covent-st. He was remanded until Monday to allow physicians to inquire into his sanity.

Father Kurtz was taking his customary walk on Tuesday afternoon in the grounds of the Holy Trinity metery when he noticed a large middle-aged man walking slowly ahead of him. The clergyman soon came up to the stranger, and as he was about to pass the man looked up and then started to run. Some time later, as he was returning toward the gate, the stranger rushed up to him and demanded to know by what right he walked in the cemetery. The clergyman led that he had a madman to deal with and tried to pacify him. The man drew a knife from beneath his coat and sprang toward him. The priest jumped aside and a workman named Rothang, who was near, ran to his assistance. The two men managed to overpower Weidners and took him to the Fourteenth Precinct Police Station. There he told his name and address, but refused to answer any more questions. A ong table-knife was found in the lining of his coat.

His son went to the station and said that a month ago Mrs. Weidners died and was buried in Holy Trinity Cemetery. His father had visited the grave daily and had been found lying on it and weeping several times. He was sixty-two years old and previous to his wife's death had been an inmate of an insane asylum, but had been discharged as cured. Several women have seen him in the cemetery heretofore, and it is said that he once threatened a woman, saying that he hated all women.

CONTERNO TO SUE THE TABERNACLE. iano Conterno, the bandmaster, is about to begin suit against the trustees of the Brooklyn Tabernnele to what he says is his rightful share of the proceeds of the concerts given by him at the Tabernacle last spring. It was agreed that he should furnish the music, and the trustees the house, and that the proceeds were to be equally divided after the cost of dvertising had been deducted. There were to have been five concerts, but as they were not a success only

Mr. Conterno says that contrary to agreement 2,000 children were admitted free, and that the trustees charged to him expenses improperly. They also refused to share with him the proceeds from the souvenir programmes. He complains that John Woods the treasurer of the Tabernacle, treated him toughly when he objected to their plan of settlement. Mr. Wood says that this is not true. There is $00 standing to Mr. Conterno's credit now. That was all he was entitled to. The house was not finished at the dates fixed, but the bandmaster insisted that the concerts be held then. This injured the concerts. Mr. Wood adds that Mr. Conterno had nothing to do with the souvenirs. They were gotten up by a man named Regers, who shared the profits with the trustees. The suit will be brought in the City Court.

GETTING MORE LAND FOR THE BRIDGE. Bridge President Wagstaff yesterday took possession of three more pieces of property in Washington-st. for the Bridge. The Bridge now has possession of five pieces of property, and the demolition of the buildings will be at once begun, and then will follow the ex cavations for the foundations of the new terminal structure. The work cannot go on far until the other property on which the commissioners have just mode ewards is in the possession of the Bridge, for these pieces transferred are in the middle of the block.

FOR PULLING THE CAPTAIN'S WHISKERS. Peter Thompson, the steward of the steamship Ounedin, of Leith, now lying at Washington-st... was before Police Justice Walsh yesterday morning charged with assault. He had a dispute with the Captain, John McKechnie, about trimming the captain's lamp, and it is said pulled the captain's whiskers. The captain thought the offence serious enough for him to consult the British Consul, and asked that his steward be held unfil he could do this. This was done.

GEORGE D. CARROLUS NEW FIELD.

CUSTOMS.

ONCE AGAIN HE BECOMES AN INSPECTOR OF

George D. Carroll, who was at one time a member of the stationary firm of Dempsey & Carroll, yesterday was reinstated as an inspector of customs at a was reinstated as an inspector of customs at a salary of $4 a day. Years ago Mr. Carroll was an inspector, but he left his place with the Government to embark in the stationary business with his partner, the head of the firm. The history of Mr. Carroll's mishaps has been published at great length in a series of articles in which he and a Spiritualist were the main characters. The stationary business in which had the embarked for a long time was an exceedingly prosperous one. The firm had the best of the fashionable work then done. Last fall, however, the firm was dissolved. Mr. Dempsey remained and he became president of a new corporation then formed. All the interest that Mr. Carroll now holds is that of 500 shares, which he has charge of as the trustee of his wife, who is said to be of unsound mind. Four years ago Mrs. Carroll was sent to the New-Jersey State Asylum for the Insahe at Middletown, but afterward asylum. The case is still pending.

Until last fall it was supposed that Mr. Carroll had a large fortune, but when the trouble arose between the members of the firm his finances were found to be in an exceedingly confused condition. It then was learned that he had gotten into the tolls of Fannie Stryker, a Spiritualist, who used the death of Mr. egation, accompanied by Alderman Mackellar, with | Carroll's son as a means of controlling the father. The son died in December, 1883, and later a wedding ceremony took place, in which the spirit of the dead the Twenty-third-st. Temple, which, it is supposed, Mr. Carroll furnished at a heavy expense. This is a part of the testimony developed on the trial of Mrs. Carroll's case.

> A TEMPORARY FLURRY IN CHICAGO GAS. For a short time yesterday Chicago gas stock took a tumble and soid from two to three points below the closing price on Tuesday night. This was said to be due to a stocklobbing scheme, in which it is alleged certain newspaper men were interested. Two or three of them got together and worked up an article, the effect of which was that the Standard Oil Company was going in as the backers of the Economic Gas and Fuel Company as against the Chicago Gas Company. Before the officials of the Standard Oil Company could get a denial of the story in general circulation, those who were working for that end forced the Chicago gas from 46 3-4 to 43 3 4.

The denial as sent out by H. M. Fingler, of the Standard Oil Company, was an emphatic one. He said that neither the Standard Oil Company nor any representative of it had any interest, direct or other wise in the new company. H. H. Rogers, of the Standard Oil Company, who is supposed to be the heavy Standard Oil stockholder in the Economic Com-pany, sailed for Europe yesterday. It was said authoritatively that he had no interest in the concern.

STRUCK AT THE HUSBAND STARBED THE WIFE. Lena O'Leary, a young Irishwoman, who lives in the tenement-house No. 2.405 Second ave., lies in the Harlem Hospital, suffering from two khife wounds in the breast, inflicted by her father-in-law, Patrick O'Leary. O'Leary is a blacksmith, and lives with his son. After receiving Is wages on Tuesday night he got drunk. When Mr. O'Leary reached home at 1 o'clock yesterday morning he blundered into the bedroom where his son and daughter-in-law were sleeping. He seemed to think a Cherokee war-dance it The noise awoke his son Joe, who told his father to get to bed. O'Leary's only reply was to take out his pipe and fill it with strong Cavendish tobacco, preparatory to a midnight smoke. hand was an open knife, with which he had cleaned his pipe.

O'Leary leaped out of bed and grappled with the old man. O'Leary lunged at his son with the knife. Lena O'Leary stepped between the two men just in time to receive the knife in her own breast, Leary struck a second blow with the knife before he could be disarmed.

Mrs. O'Leary is badly hurt, but unless crysipelas sets in will probably recover. O'Leary was remanded yesterday to await the result of her injuries.

ARGUING ABOUT THE HARLEM BRIDGES.

The question of closing the Harlem drawbridges can before the Park Board again yesterday. President Gal-lup and Commissioners Dana and Tappen were present. Commissioner Straus had not yet returned from h n trip. A petition over 200 feet long and bearing names of over 9,000 citizens was presented, asking the Board to order the closing of the draws at Third and A and 7 p. m. Ex-Judge James R. Angell, who handed in the petition, argued that 30,000 people were put to in-convenience every day by the frequent opening of the draws. It would be easily possible for the vessels in the river to transack their business at other than the six hours asked for by the public. Vice-President H. Walter followed up the petition with arguments in Company, follower up the personnel travel over the river at the hours named. The river trade, Mr. Webb said, would speedily adjust itself to the regulation pro-

Railroad Company opposed the proposed order. All their freight, it was asserted, was brought by boat through the Harlem and down the East River. To close the draws would seriously interfere with their freight traffic. Presi-dent R. S. Hayes, ex-Secretary Whitney, Colonel Lamont, Eithu Root, Sherman Evarts and Abner Bartlett, for the Astor estate, which includes valauable dock property on the Harlem, appeared in opposition to the closing of the bridges. The Board postponed the matter for one week, after Commissioner Tappen had proposed a compromise, to close the bridges at the hours named except to the Northern Railroad Company's craft NEWS FROM NEW-JERSEY, which the boits could be manipulated. While the vault was locked up business at the bank was greatly hindered.

ADVERTISEMENTS IN GERMAN NOT LEGAL. An interesting decision has just been given by Chancellor McGill. Recently ex-Judge lifnir, as a pecial master, made a sale of some property. The hancellor has refused to confirm the sale because ex-Judge Blair advertised it in a German newspaper. The Legislature last winter passed a law making it mandatory in all judicial land sales to publish an advertisement in one German newspaper. Under this law ex-Judge Blair inserted an advertisement in one English paper and in one German paper. The Chancellor de-cided that the law had not been complied with; that the advertisement in the German paper should have been printed in English. He quotes from 4 and 6 George II. which provides that all judicial proceedings after 1733 shall be published in the English language. Prior to that date they were published in Latin. The Chancellor ordered another sale and it will be advertised in accordance with his decision.

CATCHING A WOULD-BE SWINDLER.

Detective Morris yesterday arrested John P. Wood at the Pennsylvania depot. About 3 p. m. Chief Murphy received a dispatch from the Chief of Police of Pittsfield, Mass., which stated that the Pittsfield National Bank had received a Western Union telegram requesting the bank to forward 800 by telegraph with out identification to the Jersey City office. This selegram bore the signature of John S. Wolfe. S. Wolfe lives in Pittsfield and is a depositor in the bank. He was at home when the bank received the telegram, and suspecting fraud the police of Pittsfield were informed, and they in turn informed the Jersey

Wood went to the telegraph office near the Penn sylvania Depot and asked for the answer to his message. Detective Morris, who had been detailed on the case, found him there and arrested him. He said that his name was Wood, and that he had not sent a dispatch to the Pittsfield Bank. The telegraph operator identified him completely as the person who sen the message signed John S. Wolfe, and he was taken to Police Headquarters and searched. On his person were found four $50 checks, made payable to the order of Samuel P. Dennis, and drawn on the Mechanics' Bank of New-Haven, Conn. All were signed Henry D. Hotchkiss, cashler New-Haven Traction Company. They were not indorsed. Besides these checks several newspaper clippings were found on Wood. One stated that John S. Wolfe and fanily were summering on the Jersey coast, and others confained accounts of defaications in different parts of the country.

Detective McNally vesterday saw a man and two pedlers with packs on their backs acting in a suspicious manner, and when the fellow who had no pack entered a house McNally arrested him. The prisoner at th police station said he was a detective employed by the Granam Detective Agency of Cincinnati. He said he was in search of a man for whose capture a reward of $1,000 had been offered. He produced a certificate which set forth that Henry Barna, of No. 203 East Houston st., was employed by the agency. He also showed a badge with the name of the agency on it. He was remanded by Justice Kimmerly for further expensive times.

ONE WOMAN AGAINST TWO LOAFERS. Mrs. John Carrow, of Harrison, conducts with her insband a prosperous produce business in Centre Market, Newark. Mrs. Carrow is about thirty-five years old, and is good looking and of a trim figure. She is respected by her neighbors Mrs. Carrow did some shopping in Newark on Tuesday evening, and at o'clock she was standing at Market and Mulberry sts. waiting for a horsecar for Harrison, when two young men approached her and began making audible remarks. Mrs. Carrow paid no attention to them until they became offensive, and then she turned and walking quickly up to the nearest one she delivered a blow straight from the shoulder with her clenched fist that took the fellow squarely between the eyes. staggered back in astonishment and pain, holding both

A crowd quickly gathered, and a policeman appeared on the scene. When in seply to the policeman's queries the second loafer said that his friend had been assaulted without provocation and that Mrs. Carrow assaulted without provocation and that Mrs. Carrow ought to be arrested, she again lost patience. With her eyes blazing with anger she stepped toward the fellow and before the policeman could interfere she deftly planted a straight-out blow in the face that made his teeth rattle. At that moment her car came along, and halling the driver Mrs. Carrow stepped aboard and took a scat. The policeman told the two cowed loafers that they had not their dose, and he wouldn't arrest them as no complaint was made. There were jeers from the crowd when they slunk around the corner.

TAKING AN UMBRELLA NOT STEALING. James Barlow, of No. 8 Academy-st., was arraigned in the police court yesterday on a charge of stealing an umbrella worth $7.50. The complainant was Matthew Green, of Harrison, who said that last Thursday Barlow borrowed the umbrella in Harrison without principals, including guests, bridgerooms and bridges asking for it, and had failed to return it. Green added John E. Ward was hastily summoned in the case. It that it was not his belief that Barlow's taking the umbrella was to steal it. The prisoner was discharged. What about the umbrella ?" asked Green, "don't I get it back !" You can sue for it in the Hudson County District

"You can sue for it in the Hudson County District Court," answered Justice Hayes. "This man can have you arrested and severely dealt with for false imprisonment in having him locked up over night. It was outrageous to cause his arrest in this way."

The owner of the umbrella walked out of court meditatively. He had mot gotten his umbrella, he is liable to a suit for false imprisonment, and a civil action in the Hudson County Court to recover his property will cost him from $50 to $100.

FELT AND CARDBOARD IN HIS HEAD.

The case of George Leubin, of No. 114 Bergenlin ave., who was shot in the head last Sunday, is exciting much interest. Leubin and several others were shooting for prizes at Sturm's Atlantic Garden, and by the accidental discharge of a rifle Leubin was shot. The bullet passed through his hat and two thicknesses of heavy cardboard placed between the hat and the lining. which had been inserted because the hat was too large to fit the wenrer. It was due to this that Leubin was not instantly killed.

As soon as Leubin felt himself injured, he went to the office of a doctor who probed the wound, and declared there was no bullet in it. Monday Leubin suffered so much that he sent for Dr. Schlemm, who pronounced the wound too serious to be probed then. Later, in the presence of a policeman, Dr. Schlemm probed the wound and removed two pieces of the card, and the next day he extracted a piece of the felt hat. To-day the surgeon will attempt to remove the bullet. Leubin's condition is serious.

The Singer Company yesterday paid $24,260 in taxes to the City Treasurer, and the New-Jersey Jockey Club $1,500. The taxes are not due until October 20, and by this generous action of these two large taxpayers the depleted city trensury is placed in possession of sufficient funds to pay all current expenses. Last week Mayor Rankin gave his personal check for $3,000 to pay the police.

It is said a ferry will be established at Elizabethport, between that point, New York and Amboy. The water-front owned by the Connolly Motor Company has been bought for $17,000 by Cortlandt Parker, of Amboy, and it is rumored that the Lehigh Valley Company is interested in the purchase.

PLAINFIELD.

The Democrats in the Plainfield Common Council are losing no chances of making political capital for use in the approaching fall election. For the perma neut improvement of North-ave., which has been cor demned by the courts as a nuisance, the Central New Jersey Land Improvement Company has subscribed $1,500 and the Central Railroad has given $1,000. These amounts were obtained by Robert Meeker, the street commissioner, who is a Republican. By his street commissioner, who is a Republican. By his efforts the city was saved $2,500. In the Common Council chamber, however, Leonard Spangenberg, chairman of the street committee, received all the credit for the good work. He is one of the Democratic "Big Six." Through Mr. Hitheld (Dem.) the public vote of thanks of the city was extended to Mr. Spangenberg, and that Councilman accepted the tribute.

Turner's mother had owen the grocers a small sum of money for several months, and Drayton was in the labit of mentioning 168 fact to any of the Turners he chanced to see. Yesterday William and Denjamin Turner were near the store and Drayton called out to the laster: "When are you going to pay that bill?" Benjamin Turner and his brother, according to Drayton's story, made insuling remarks, and Drayton promptly knocked William Turner down. It was thought that Turner was dead, but he revived, and a gash over his right eye was sewn up. The wound is dangerous. Judge Morrell held Drayton under $500 bail for the Grand Jury.

DR. CHARLES PARKHURST ON TEMPERANCE. The Rev. Dr. Charles Patkhurst. Editor of "Zion's terald," of Boston, delivered an address yesterday before the Temperance Congress at Port Richmond. His subject was "In What Ways is it Practicable for Protestants and Catholics to Join Forces Against the Liquor Evil!" Aniong other things, Dr. Parkhurst

Let the Total Abstinence Societies in Catholic and Protestant circles recognize each other as co-workers and enter upon fraternal and federated relations. The Catholic Church is doing a magnificent work in pledging its people, and especially the young, to total abstinence. In the State of Massachusetts there are in the Catholic Total Abstinence Chions is membership of 14,000. The finest procession of young men, the largest, most noble and manly in form and feature. that we ever saw, was the annual parade of the Catholic unions, made nearly one year ago in the streets of Boston. At the National Convention of these societies, held in 1890, 763 unions were reported with a membership of 53,219. What an army of total abstainers is that in the Catholic Church! I am informed that the movement is gaining strength and members each year.

With a common pledge and a common aim with the Protestant, in the work of total abstinence, official and affilinged relations, aye, heart; co-operation, should be easily reached. Let the Protestant send and included eagates, meet, converse and discuss with the Catholic reformer whenever opportunity offers. But bring these young and a dent total abstainers from either circle tagether, and they will very quickly find ways in which they can more aggressively work together against the liquor evil.

2. Catholic and Protestant should carnestly unite Let the Total Abstinence Societies in Catholic and

2. Catholic and Protestant should carnestly unite to secure legal restriction of the saloon. Denominational lines should not be considered in the selection of men who are to bear part in shaping our legislation. Is a Catholic of avowed temperance principles available as the nominee to the State Legislature as against the professional politician, then let that Catholic be nominated and elected. Cooperation in securing the election of temperance men and then in securing legislation that will restrict the traffic are practical lines that need only suggestion.

3. Catholic and Protestant should heartily unite in enforcing restrictive legislation. Here is the weakest point in the whole temperance movement—a cowardly failure to secure the execution of restrictive legislation alrendy secured. I do not know as God can consistently foreive either Protestant or Catholic in this matter, for both sin wilfully. One half to two-thirds of the amount of liquor sold in most States could be prevented if the laws already on the stratute books were executed. Nothing prevents except selfishness and cowardice. The age has produced but two not able men who in this matter have had the courage of their convictions. One recently went to Heaven from the wickedest city of the land, which he did most to purify, and the other still lives, "the noblest Roman of them all," the Hon. Neal Dow, of Maine. Local leagues should be formed in cities and towns for the execution of the laws. Catholice should be kindly and wisely invited to share in the effort. that need only suggestion.

3. Catholic and Protestant should heartily unite in the weakers.

JAMAICA.—Coroner, Everitt yesterday issued a warrant for the arrest of Edgar Wadleigh on a charge of arson. On the morning of July 14 a large double house at Shelton and Harriman aves., owned by Thomas Daily, was partly destroyed by fire. The premises had been leased on July 1 to Edgar Wadleigh, of Brooklyn, and he said that the fire had gained such headway that he was able to save but a few articles of furniture. The German-American Insurance Company, who held the risk, made a settlement a few days after the fire for $540, and the same day he moved back to Brooklyn. On Tuesday Mr. Daily employed several workmen to clear the debris out of the house. While they were engaged at this work they found an old bed-lounge on the second floor which had been deenched with kerosene oil. A second pile of rubbish was moved from the head of the stairs on the second floor, and under this a quantity of jute and woollen rags scaled with kerosene oil was found. On learning these facts William Dykes, the Jamaica agent of the insurance company, went before Coroner Everitt and made sadavit that he believed the fire was of incendiary origin.

The boy was examned and was found to be covered with bruises. Superintendent Moritz Alexander said that Harris had acted somewhat hastily, but that the boys had

AN ENGINEER SAYS THE FOUNDATION EXCAVA-TIONS SHOULD BE DEEPER.

A meeting of the Grant Monument Association was held yesterday afternoon in room 503, No. 146 Broad-way. J. H. Duncan, the architect of the association, presented a new set of plans which met the approval of the committee and were accepted. Charles B. Brush, the civil engineer, said that he had examined the excavations for the monument and found them unsatisfactory. He said the original plans called for an excavation of twenty feet below the grade line which is shown at an elevation of 133 minutes and 44 seconds. The depth of the present excavation, he said, is only 16 minutes and 5 seconds below the grade line. He recommended that the excavation be carried down three or four feet further. As it is now, the foundations would rest on a soft bottom of sandy loam, which might at some future ime endanger the integrity of the masonry. further recommended that the foundation, which was proposed to be built of Rosendale cement, should be aid in Portland cement. He said also that the addilonal foundation should be in Portland cement.

Mr. Brady, the contractor for the excavation and oundation work, reported that the excavation and oncrete foundation will be completed by the middle f September.

Mr. Dillon offered a resolution restoring the salary of the secretary, to take effect August 1. The reso-lution was adopted. C. O'Reilly presented a plan for a house to be erected in Riverside Park, to be the permanent office of the association. It will be the permanent omce of the association. It will be completed by September 1. The secretary presented a series of resolutions to S. G. Pratt and A. B. De Frece, acknowledging their success in the extertainment which was given by them at the Madison Square Garden last May for the benefit of the fund. The same entertainment will be repeated at the Madison Square Garden on October 1 and 2.

HE WAS NOT SHOCKED TO DEATH.

AN AUTOPSY SHOWS THAT THE ELECTRIC MOTOR WAS NOT RESPONSIBLE FOR THE

DEATH OF BARTELS. Business went on as usual yesterday in Theodore Feldstein's restaurant, at No. 266 Grand-st., where Henry Bartels, one of the bartenders, dropped of Tuesday night, after touching an electric motor. Many fermans, who seemed to be regular customers, went in and out of the place, and few of them stopped to look at the harmless-appearing motor, which stood at the end of the bar. Mrs. Feldstein sat at a desk between the motor and the front door, and sorted over the checks which waiters had turned in at the cashier's desk. She said it was certain that the motor had not killed Bartels, as it was not running and was not supplied with electricity on Tuesday evening.

Deputy Coroner William A. Conway made an autopsy on the body of Henry Bartels yesterday afternoon The autopsy was made under the direction of Coroner schultze. After a thorough examination of the lungs and heart, Dr. Conway said that there was not the slightest evidence that Bartels had been shocked by electricity. Deputy Coroner Jenkins was present and assisted in the examination. They found that death resulted from uraemic coma. One of the dead man's friends said to Dr. Conway that Bartels was subject to convulsions, and that he had been discharged from several places on that account, and once from Feld-stein's. He would be taken with these convulsions always while at work. The man's kidneys and liver were in a bad condition, the latter weighing over seven pounds.

PROF. KORFF THOUGHT TO HAVE BEEN MURDERED. The body of Professor Charles A. Korff, found in the water at Oak Point on Monday, was buried yesterday, the funeral taking place at his home in Boston-ave. The police were still hunting for the man who is believed to have robbed Korff and thrown him into the sound. That man is thought to be the stranger who was drinking with Professor Korff in Sulzer's pavilion on Saturday night, and left the place with him when Professor Korff was under the influence of liquor, Although an autopsy had showed that the bruises on the tead man's head had not been sufficient to cause insensibility, in all probability, and that death was duto drowning, the theory of murder, following robbery was not disproved. There was no good reason fo believing that the pockets of the dead man had been rified while the body was in the water, and the disap-pearance of a gold watch and about $300 from Prossor Korff's person could not be accounted for on any other theory except that of foul play.

Martin Korff said yesterday that talk about the essible suicide of his father was absurd. "Such a neory of his death is entirely incompatible with his haracter and temperament," the young man added I am satisfied that some one robbed my father and threw him overboard. We cannot fix the exact sum of money which he had with him on Saturday, but it must have been considerable, as out of it he paid a bill of $35. It was his custom to carry large sums of money with him."

THE SENATE COMMITTEE HAD NO QUORUM. The Committee on Naval Affairs falled to have a Blackburn and Stockbridge are expected to arrive soot senators Cameron and Butler are at present the only representatives of the committee now here. Senator McPherson told his colleagues yesterday that he would be present simply to make a quorum, but would not attend the meetings of the committee. He had some time before informed Senator Morrill, chairman of the enate Committee on Finance, that he would go with Senate Committee on Finance, that he would go with him to Canada on August 15. These two Senators will constitute a sub-committee to investigate the question of reciprocity, the workings of the tariff, and other ididred subjects. Their work will be in the line of that now being pursued by the sub-committee which has been holding sessions at Narragansett Pier.
